COVERS RICHEST GOL D AREA IN CALIFORNIA

The Week

By H. M. L. Jr.

The recent victory of the California Gas and Electric Employee's Union over an affiliate of the C. I. O. was an event which should carry a moral to every large corporation, and indeed to every employer. The California Gas and Electric Employee's Union is an independent union, composed solely of outside employees of the P. G. & E. It is subject to no national authority and members pay no exorbitant dues. This union within the company is in the main in harmony with the policies of the management. Assured by long years of fair treatment, the union trusts and co-operates with the company officials. The P. G. & E. works a forty hour week. Minimum pay is $4.40 per day. An excellent pension system is in effect. Two weeks vacation and two weeks sick leave are granted to permanent employees. The consideration of the P. G. & E. for its employees has been amply rewarded. Its employees have chosen to deal with company officials in harmony and co-operation. The P. G. & E. relations with labor present a happy contrast to the strikes, picketing, battles and general belligerence now so prevalent in industry.

A public utility must have reliability in its employees above all other qualities. An automobile or a steel plant can be shut down, but light, gas and water must be continously provided. In order to secure this reliability, the P. G. & E. endeavors to make a life of almost complete security possible for the competent employee. Once an employee has proved his reliability and integrity, he is never discharged by the company as long as his work is satisfactory. The P. G. & E. suffer very little loss from labor turnover.

Organized labor has recently aroused the ire of even our labor-loving President. The racketeering Dave Beck has b,y his scandalous obstructionist policies in regard to the lumber industry, caused the President to look upon organized labor as in much of need of house-cleaning as heavy industry. It is well that the President shows that he is aware that labor leaders can be fully as unscrupulous and greedy as economic royalists. His attitude should encourage labor to a more co-operative and less vindivative attitude.

The whole struggle between labor and business has been characterized by a stubborn attitude on both sides. Compromise has been fought with nearly as much vigor as has capitulation. Each side has been prepared to sustain heavy financial loss rather than admit the other side was partly right. And they have sustained that financial loss. The pig-headedness of labor and capital has been one of the great contributing factors to the creation of the new depression.

Certainly there must be examples throughout the nation of highly successful relations between business and labor. We have cited the P. G. & E. as an example of a benevolent corporation served by faithful and well-cared-for workers. It would benefit corporations whose profits are endangered by unsuccessful labor relations to study the labor situation of companies as signally successful as the P. G. & E.

Today's hard boiled world is liable to receive mention of the Golden Rule as naive. That it could be successfully and profitably employed in the complicated field of labor relations, seems so obvious as to be ridiculous, and yet so simple as to be scarcely feasible. The Golden Rule is regarded as the first precept of considerateness and unselfishness and is naturally not often thought as a principle capable of producing cash profit—money in the pocket. That unselfishness can directly further selfish ends seems a paradox. Yet it is true. Time after time, we find that those corporations who employ consideration in their dealings with their employees receive trust and consideration in return; and that those groups of employees who observe temperance in attitude reap the greatest reward which can be bestowed upon labor—security.

Hard-headed business men may be more interested in cash profits than in altruism. Labor leaders may be more interested in pay raises than in altruism. It is sometimes difficult to understand how business and labor can in so many instances remain blind to the educational examples of those corporations and labor organizations which recognize the profitable qualities of altruism and regulate their policies in that spirit to the mutual cash advantage of both business and labor.

CITY FINANCES IN GOOD SHAPE

Nevada City enters the new year with $4,727 in municipal treasury. At last nights meeting of the council City Clerk George Calanan made the following report respecting city finances:

Balance cash on hand December 1—$8040.01.

RECEIPTS

Water collections, $1868.75; Delinquent taxes, $3.74; licenses, $249.-00; Miscellaneous sidewalks, $881.-39; Fines, $25.00; State Motor Taxes, $26.71. Total, $11094.60.

General fund warrants, $5958.09; Fire fund warrants, $6028;——— fund warrants, $348.86. Total $6367.-23. Balance cash—$4727.37.

W. H. Griffith appeared before the city council and submitted a proposal to lease the use of the Chamber of Commerce room to Tom Arden, reporter for the Sacramento Bee for $7.50 per month. The request was denied.

George Chaney requested extension of the water line to his property on Piety Hill and the council authorized the use of such pipe as is on hand for that purpose. Mr. Dodson appealed to the city council to build him a septic tank in case they were unable to extend sewer service to his home on Piety Hill. City Engineer Ed Uren was asked to make an examination of the project.

Councilman Frank Davies called attention to the need of a foot bridge across Gold Run so that the many high school children and other pedestrians would not be obliged to use the highway which narrows as it crosses the bridge and makes dangerous conditions for pedestrians.

A petition directed to Fred Garrison local superintendent for the State Highway commission, asked that a culvert be placed under Pine street at its intersection with Broad on the south. It complained that the present open thank-e-marm not only gives autos a considerable jounce as they enter Broad, but that in wet weather pedestrians are liberally splashed with muddy water. Councilman Frank Davies, chairman of the street committee stated that he consulted the engineer for the highway commission before the recent change was made, and received his approval. No action toward reverting to the old arrangement was taken. The council considered the present open gully far better than an underground cross pipe, for the reason that during the winter the pipe had continually to be cleaned out.

CELEBRATES 81ST YEAR WITH NEW GOLD PANS AND HAMMER

Frank Holbrooke, in his 81st year, bought two gold pans and a hammer yesterday morning and will start prospecting. He is the next to the oldest native of Nevada City, Thomas Corcoran being the oldest. Mr. Holbrooke remembers playing marbles on the vacant lots where the Morgan & Powell and the Bank of America buildings now stand. He spent about two years in Grass Valley with a daughter but is glad to return to live in Nevada City among old friends.

NO MORE DOUBLE PARKING SAYS CHIEF ROBSON

Chief of Police Garfield Robson stated yesterday there will be no more double parking in the business districts of Nevada City. An ambulance attempted to get through a blockade on Broad street a few days ago and a complaint was registered about the traffic jam. From now on all trucks and cars will be required to park in the side lines at the curb on the main streets or else see Judge Miles Coughlin. A ticket was handed out Wednesday morning to a truck driver that had been given warning the morning before.

WINCAPAW FILES DAMAGE SUIT

L. S. Wincapaw, Grass Valley mining engineer, filed suit in the superior court Tuesday against W. H. Carey, present manager of the Golden Center mine for damages to the amount of $25,000. Charles Gilmore of Sacramento is his attorney. Mr. Wincapaw, for six years superintendent of the Golden Center, the Scotia and Deer Creek mines operated by the Cooley Butler interests asserts in his complaint that on December 1, 1937, W. H. Carey without the knowledge or consent of himself, mailed a letter to a Sacramento paper, purportedly signed by Wincapaw, but without his consent or permission, the letter reading:

"We wish to announce the appointment of W. H. Carey as superintendent of the Golden Center, Scotia and Deer Creek mines. Mr. Carey has been assistant superintendent for several years. He was with the Cooley Butler interests as superintendent for a number of years at a copper property in Idaho."

"Very truly yours,

"GOLDEN CENTER MINES,

"L. S. Wincapaw." (Signed).

A photostatic copy of the letter was filed with the complaint. The newspaper published the letter December 7, 1937.

The complaint charges that the statements made were false and untrue at the time of writing said letter, and alleges Carey knew they were false and untrue. He further charges that Carey, in preparing or causing the letter to be prepared, and signing Wincapaw's name to it, did so with the intent to prejudice and damage him, and with the intent to cause all persons who might read it to believe he had been forced to relinquish his position because of inefficiency and incompetency in discharging his duties a ssuperintendent.

For the "intent to injure, disgrace and defame Wincapaw in his reputation, occupation and position as mining engineer and a mine superintendent, to plaintiff's damage, $15,-000." For "wilful, false and malicious acts" Wincapaw seeks another $10,000.

The suit is the outgrowth of the retirement of Wincapaw as manager of the Cooley Butler interests in this area and his succession by Carey.

Mr. and Mrs Frank Guenther, who left here last week for the Rose Bowl game in Pasadena were detained in San Francisco when it was found Mrs. Guenther's sister, Mrs. May Davis, was very ill with pneumonia.

New Downieville Is Rising on Flood Ruin

While the Downieville flood worked hardship and privation on many of the citizens there in five or ten years from now the city will show a great benefit as the result of destruction of the old and the construction of new buildings, streets and bridges. In brief the disaster has resulted in a face ltfing process which will make Downieville one of the most attractive towns in the Sierras.

Ross Taylor returning yesterday from a conference in Sacramento with the state highway officials reports that at a meeting of Sierra County Board of Supervisors and state officials in Downieville Tuesday, it was decided to reroute the state highway through Downieville, continuing further up Main street and crossing north fork of the North Fork of Yuba over the site of the Jersey street bridge, which was washed out in the flood.

This rerouting of the state highway will call for widening Main street on the river side and the building of a wall to withstand any future floods which might occur. It will greatly improve Downieville and give motor tourists a much better chance to see the city than the former state highway afforded. In passing through the residence district, the highway will be widened as well, and fortunately the lots, across the river from the business district, are very deep so that no one will be much damaged and the state highway will greatly improve frontage values.

The Sierra supervisors tentatively decided to rebuild the bridge across to Durgen Flat, immediately in front of the Lusk garage, at a cost of $12,000. It is proposed to make this a one-way bridge since the traffic there never will be very heavy.

Many of those who had the rear foundations of their homes swept away by the flood are repairing and remodeling much more substantially than originally was the case.

SUPERVISORS IN CONFERENCE ON S. F. EXPOSITION

W. W. Esterly of Grass Valley and President Morris of the Alta Californians, an organization of scattered counties in Northern California, met with the Board of Supervisors Wednesday to submit a plan of organization for a number of Northern California counties, the group thus formed to put up a building at the Golden Gate exposition in 1939. The supervisors showed no disposition to act hurriedly in the matter, since this county, along with Placer and Sierra counties, already belongs to the group known os the Golden Empire, which comprises Sacramento county and other large counties in Northern California It is understood that the Golden Empire has also planned participation in the Golden Gate Exposition which will be a notable opportunity for Nevada County, the premier gold producer of California, to be adequately represented at the big oxposition.

MACHINERY IS MOVED TO LADY BUG PROPERTY

Moore Costello with his men and trucks are dismantling the Pen-California mill in Willow Valley and trucking it to the Lady Bug mine northeast of Washington. Considerable difficulty is being encountered in moving the heavy machinery on soft rain soaked ground. One truck slipped and went over the road side in Willow Valley Wednesday and another truck mired down near the mine while taking the equipment in.

Eastern capitalists are developing the property. When assembled the mill will be made into ten stamps.

The Pen-California property is a portion of the Hoge ground and this mill was erected to handle ore from a long tunnel into the mountain northeast of the little school house in the Willow Valley district.

CIVIC CLUB TO HEAR R. B. FARLEY

The Woman's Civic Club will hear, next Monday evening, a talk by R. B. Farley, State Board of Equalization officer who has charge of the enforcement of liquor laws in Nevada county. It is a subject in which many members of the club are interested and Mr. Farley has stated that he would be glad to answer any questions concerning it which may be asked.

Mrs. George Lysterup is entertaining twelve little friends of her sons, Grant and Charles, who celebrated birthdays December 29 and today. A joyous time will be spent playing games after which dainty refreshments will be served.

DOWNIEVILLE BOYS AND GIRLS EXPRESS THANKS

Grateful children, ranging from tiny tots who are just learning their letters, to high school students whose careful penmanship does credit to their teachers, signed a letter, just received, thanking Nevada City people for their part in the big Christmas entertainment put on in Downieville by Nevada City, Grass Valley, Auburn and Marysville. The letter addressed to Clyde Gwin, representing the Rotary Club in the delegation who carried Nevada City's gifts to Downieville, follows:

E Clampus Vitus,
Clyde Gwin, Nevada City.
Dear Sirs:

We, the students of the Downieville schools, send thanks to you and to everyone who brought the real spirit of Christmas to this cocmmunity on Tuesday night, December 21st. Your happy spirit most certainly gave us a "lift."

MEN, SHOVELS, TRACTORS WORK ON DOWNIEVILLE RD.

Superintendent Fred Garrison is spending some time in the Marysville division of his state highway district. Small slides and washes have been cleared on the Tahoe-Ukiah highway in the Smartville area and the road is in good condition.

Mr. Garrison stated the clear sunny days have melted the snow until it is to be found only in patches, at higher elevations. There is a foot on the ground at Donner Summit but east of Nevada City there are only patches on the Tahoe-Ukiah roadsides. The same conditions will also be found on the Yuba Pass road above Sierra City.

Two steam shovels, tractor, eight trucks, and 30 men are at work on the Downieville road where floods washed out portions of the highway and caused slides of huge boulders and earth. It is expected all work will be completed in 30 days. There is a one way road between Downieville and Sierra City in places but this will be cleared shortly. Chester Butz is foreman in the Downieville district.

SHERIFF TELLS ROTARY STORY OF NEWMAN BROS.

Sheriff Carl Tobiassen at the Rotary luncheon yesterday told the story of the detection and capture of Monte and Merritt Newman, brothers who murdered Christian Meyers early Sunday morning, January, 1936, on the Tahie Ukiah road just above Nevada City.

Past President Frank Finnegan gave a formal welcome to three new members of the club, C. O. Brown of Sunnyside Gheenhouse, Larry Noyes of Noyes Electric Shop and Emmett Gallagher of the new 5 and 10 cent store.

Andrew Larsen, chairman of the Rotary Scout committee reported that the room for the Boy Scouts in Seaman's lodge had been completed. It now has a good pine floor, is fitted with a stove, kindly donated by the Nevada City school board.

The fact that the hold up and murder of Christian Meyers took place one mile outside Nevada City's limits instead of the four miles, that Gwendolyn Boates, his sweetheart reported, when she fled down the road after the tragedy, delayed the sheriff's office several hours in their hunt for the Newman brothers. It probably frustrated their immediate capture, but in the long run made the conviction of murder the more certain. For four days later the Newmans had vanished, and Sheriff Tobiassen instituted a manhunt which included not only this country, but also Mexico and Canada. The fact that they had fled the scene of their crime helped to fasten a conviction of their guilt in the minds of the jury which rendered a verdict of murder in the first degree.

Commenting on the career of the two murderers, Sheriff Tobiassen told their story from the time they were 16 years old. It is a story of reformatories and jails for Merritt Newman, and of miraculous escapes from justice on the part of Monte Newman. It was a tale of thievery, robbery, rape and murder in which one of the brothers had been provedly involved and of which the other had been suspected from their youth until their final convictcion and sentence to Folsom penitentiary for life. Members of the club listened spellbound to the recital for the sheriff told the story well.

JOHN LEWIS IN $275,000 OFFICE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—John L. Lewis moved his United Mine Workers Union headquarters into a new home here this week—a home that was once the dignified University Club.

The union bought the club last year for $275,000 and has spent thousands of dollars remodeling it to suit the union chief's needs. Mr. Lewis's paneled office is on the southeast corner, once part of the University Club lounge, and from his window he is able to see the buildings that house the National Labor Relations Board, the National Coal Association, the McLean mansion, the Cosmos Club and the Veterans' Administration.

Mr. Lewis also has a private entrance to the building and a private stairway to the conference room back of his office. This conference room ,low ceilinged with a brick fire-place, is finished in glazed terracotta with chestnut woodwork.

Most sumptuous of all, however, is the private sixth floor suite which union officials say will be used for private conferences and dinners. The suite includes a library, lounge, dining room and kitchen. The lounge has a huge stone fireplace, as does the library. Mr. Lewis has instructed elevator operators that no one is to be taken to that floor without his personal permission, it is reported.

Mr. Lewis's private office is described as being thirty three by twenty eight feet, having a vaulted ceiling and four casement windows each sixteen feet high.

RETRIBUTION

The demagogue, in his rising
From obscurity where he crouches,
Make good by capitalizing
The ancient national grouches

He fosters the feuds and the hating.
The people cheer him and back him,
Until, their fervor abating,
They growl, and they up and they smack him.

For each dictator and war head
Will suffer rebounding blame,
Since those who live by the sorehead
Shall perish by the same.

—Jerome Barry.

The little jingle above, clipped from the Saturday Evening Post, compresses in three stanzas political wisdom of the age. When the soreheads, ne'er-do-wells, and share-the-wealthers, at certain conjunctions in the national firmament hold a balance of political power it is almost certain that a champion of the underdog will rise and in honeyed accents woo their votes. In the American Commonwealth, there is always a wide sympathy, latent in good times, active in bad times, for the underdog. When the popular leader declares that no one shall starve in America, he makes a universal appeal.

We had the pleasure of hearing Herbert Hoover's speech accepting the Republican nomination to be President. He talked of abolishing poverty in the United States. While we don't remember that he mentioned a chicken in every pot, or two cars in every garage, we will admit that some such inference was implicit in his speech. It was an appeal to the same kind of voters on whose shoulders Roosevelt later rode into power. It is dangerous for any man to make promises of this kind or to lead anyone to think that such promises can be kept. History bristles with the names of political messiahs who promised and failed.

It is a matter of time. Those who must depend on emotionalism to win political leadership fall by the same law that raises them. The hero-worship of today is the contumely of tomorrow. Hoover, winning by a popular majority of little less than that of his successor, was cast out in four years. Roosevelt, building the discontented elements of the nation into a serviceable vehicle rides into a second term. But now as Congress convenes, there are plenty of signs of the inevitable dissolution. Except for fire-side chats, sounding the same chord on the somewhat threadbare theme that no one shall starve as long as the Federal treasury holds out, he has shot his bolt. Congress, always jealous of its powers, no longer fears him. The Supreme Court, only a little diluted by the Klansman, preserves its authority. Government by three co-ordinate departments, is still intact, and from now on will function much as the Founders intended.

But neither Hoover nor Roosevelt are a total national loss. However, too cautious, still instituted the RFC, which has been one of Roosevelt's instruments in relieving the depression. That we now have another depression, not so acute, as that of the Hoover regime, is due mainly to Rooseveltian haste. Caution can be too slow, and haste, as we all know, makes waste So we will have had a wasteful eight years when the curtain rings down on Dr. Roosevelt. On the backs of taxpayers has been piled the greatest debt in the history of the world. At the same time new restrictions, new regulations have been enacted, that hamper earning capacity, not to mention the constant pressure for further reforms that make business and even the means of living uncertain.

So we come to the conclusion that if Hoover was too slow in an emergency, Roosevelt is far too fast. We are cured of our diseases but the medicine we have taken is more painful than the ills we had.

The great fault of legislating for 125,000,000 people is that it is practically impossible to do so without oppression of some great segment of the population. In Russia, as a recent commentator points out, the Soviet authorities adopted a shot-gun measure aimed at 40-cow Kulaks, but while this class was hurt, worse damage was done 10-cow Kulaks, and the no-cow Kulak got most of the shot. In other words, when the President goes hunting for "Big Business" either in the way of super-taxes or regulation, he may cripple big business somewhat, though as a matter of fact, the big fellows have generally learned how to take care of themselves, but the little fellows are kept busy picking the shot out of their innocent hides.

The President's address to Congress Monday gives promise that something will be done about mending this condition For the first time he narrows his accusation of wrong doing on the part of big business to a few recalcitrant and rebellious "big fellows" who refuse to keep step with the country's savior. He exonerates the little business man, which will make the little fellow happy provided kind deeds follow kind words. The President, this time, may mean what he says. We will watchfully wait and see.

ABRIDGED

"This book of Universal Knowledge will tell you everything you ought to know," declared the agent at the door.

"Don't need it," growled Mr. Grouch, "my wife tells me all that—and a lot more besides."

"Daddy!" exclaimed the little boy.

"One more question, then," sighed the tired father, "Only one."

"How far it is," inquired the tot, "between to and fro."

Danny went to school for the first time and, like many other little boys' fathers, Danny's dad asked him how he liked his teacher.

"All right," was the reply.

"Is your teacher smart?" teasingly persisted the questioner.

"Well, she knows more than I do," admitted Danny.

OBESITY OFTEN CAUSE OF SEVERE HEART PAIN

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6.—Severe and sometimes disabling chest pains which resemble the symptoms of angina pectoris, may be traced in many instances to the patient's excessively overweight condition, according to Dr. William J. Kerr, professor of medicine in the University of California Medical School.

Speaking before the eighth annual post graduate symposium on heart disease held here recently, Dr. Kerr revealed that the Univsersity Medical School has obtained results which are nothing short of phenomenal in treating over weight sufferers from chest pain, breathlessness and low blood pressure.

The pain, similar to that of angina pectoris, in this condition, is presumed to be due to an insufficient supply of oxygen to the muscles of the heart. Dr. Kerr believes on the basis of personal observation of a large number of patients that the chief and precipitating causes of the pain lie outside the heart itself.

He lays the blame on conditions which prevent the heart from filling with an adequate amount of oxygen carrying blood. Extreme obesity and resulting abnormal posture is one of these conditions he says.

At the University Medical School, overweight patients have been put on a special diet designed to reduce the weight to normal and properly fitted abdominal belts have been applied. Later, postural exercises have been prescribed. In every case in which this has been done the attacks of pain have been removed.

The reason for this cessation of pain cannot be listed categorically, according to Dr. Kerr. However, he believes that it is due to the restoration of the normal position and movements of the diaphragm, the change in pressure within the abdomen and chest, and the increased freedom of motion enjoyed by the chest in the breathing. All these factors apparently combine to aid the heart in filling itself with an adequate supply of blood.

ALCATRAZ PRISONER SENDS OUT WISECRACK

The officials of Alcatraz prison are notoriously strict about letting their charges communicate with the outside world, but one prisoner recently managed to release a wisecrack, according to an instructor in the Correspondence Department of the University of California Extension Division.

The prisoner, taking advantage of his enforced leisure to improve his mind, is studying Spanish. Recently he received a lesson in which he was require to translate into Spanish the sentence: "'When a lawyer is good he works hard." The prisoner translated this properly and then added, also in Spanish: "But when a lawyer is bad his clients works hard."

AUTO LICENSE TIME OPENS; APPLY EARLY

Bright new license plates of gleaming black and yellow begin to appear this week on the cars of California motorists with the opening of the annual period for renewal of automobile registration on Monday (January 3).

Wise motorists are applying early, it was pointed out by the California State Automobile Association. Those who put off applying until the closing days of the period face the congestion and delays of a last minute rush. A greater risk of waiting is that of failing to apply before the time limit expires at midnight, February 4.

Delinquent applicants will be required by law to pay cash penalties which increase the regular registration fee from $3 to $6 and add 50 per cent to the amount of vehicle liccense fee based on car value.

Car owners applying for renewal are required to present the registration certificate for 1937. They should also present the postcard notice from the department of motor vehicles showing the total fees due, in order to facilitate handling their application.

In case the registration certificate has been lost or is too badly damaged for use application for a duplicate certificiate is necessary. This requires presentation of the ownership certificate for the information it contains concerning the car. If that certificate also is not available, the car itself must be brought to a plate issuing office for examination as to engine number and other facts.

Applications for renewal of registration and issuance of new license plates for 1938 are being handled by the department at its various offices and by the Automobile Association for member motorists at thirty three district offices.

JUST WONDERIN'

I wonder now about advice—
The foolish, trite and bad;
And good advice I didn't take
And later wished I had.
I wonder too, why sound advice
Remained so long unheeded
Right here in these gold bearing hills
Where it was greatly needed.

I wonder often about advice; if you take it, you wish you hadn't; if you don't take it, you wish you had; if you have some to give away, no one wants it; if you don't give it, people call you unsympathetic. Does anyone ever learn just what to do with or about advice?

Many years ago, when the hydraulic miners of Alta California were waging a losing battle with forces representing the interior valleys, a poet residing in Marysville or Sacramento, composed a couplet which, joined to a fantastic tune, became rather popular—in some quarters. It rans as follows:

"Dam the Yuba and the Bear

Now this was sound advice, freely given and often reiterated; but the hydraulic miners failed to recognize it as such; instead, they regarded it as a hymn of hate and treated it with contempt. In recent years however, they have realized its practicability and are now eagerly hastening to dam, not only the Yuba and the Bear, but the American river as well. This will trebly dam the black debris, permit the resumption of hydraulic mining, and inaugurate a new era of prosperity and progress, for the mining regions of our northern counties which will be reflected in revived activities throughout the central valleys and in San Francisco by the Golden Gate.

Perhaps the composer of that famous couplet did not intend it for advice, but in the words of a certain M. C. "it surely did contain the germ of a great idea."

I wonder if Japan entangled in a maze of explanations, apologies, deep regrets, etc., will become absent minded and quite unconsciously apologize to China.

Uncle Silas says, "the reason Cousin Jane brags so everlastingly about her ancestors is because they are all dead and no one here know anything about them."

A Glimpse of Building Activity

Vol. 1. JANUARY 7, 1938 No. 68.

Weatherstrip is an important item in weather such as we are having at present. Weatherstrip either metal or fabric, both of which we stock keeps the cold winds out and the heat in. The metal type is everlasting and can be installed by anyone. Costs are low.

Contractor Bun Steger installed a floor over the old concrete floor in one of the Nevada City High School classrooms during the holiday vacation. The new floor is of vertical grain Oregon Pine.

Another money saver in this kind of weather and a comfort producer in hotweather is Palco Wool. Thirteen tons of this fine insulator have just gone on the new school building in Auburn. The merits of this product have been proven beyond all doubt.

Contractor Tom Reynolds is placing a partition between the two sides of the Lace House making two stores of this old local institution. We understand that genial Bill Home who formerly worked in the Lace House is going to operate a Men's Store in one of the partitioned spaces.

Completion of one of the rooms in Seaman Lodge for the use of the Boy Scout troops is an accomplished fact with the balance of the work temporarily halted pending a check up of available funds. The troops now have a good meeting place which can be kept warm without a waste of fuel. The boys will no doubt be proud of their new quarters and do all they can to keep them in order.

INCREASED AID FOR CALIF. AGED

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 6. — State Controller Harry B. Riley announced today that advances from the state's general fund to counties for benevolent aid to the aged, needy children and the blind had materially increased during the last quarter.

Prior to July 1, 1937, the counties advanced the entire cost of these benevolent services, and on claims filed semi-annually with the State Department of Social Welfare the counties were reimbursed for that portion of the load carried by the state. At the last session of the legislature there was enacted a law whereby the counties file estimates of payments on a quarterly basis in advance of need. In this way, declared Controller Riley, both federal and state funds are available to the counties, materially assisting them in meeting the financial requirements without placing undue burden upon county officials and treasury funds.

Claims filed by the counties estihate an expenditure of $11,616,591.-93 for the quarter October 1—December 31, 1937, for the care of the aged, needy children and the blind. Of this amount the federal government advanced $4,723,631.66, the state $3,594,870.11 and the counties assuming $3,298,090.13, declared Controller Riley.

Advances on a corresponding basis for the previous quarter July 1-September 30, 1937, totaled $9,980,251.-98, of which the federal governments share was $4,226,048.03, the state's portion $3,020,849.09 and the counties' paying $2,733,354.86.

Controller Riley said that complete figures are not yet available for the grants to be made for the January-March, 1938, quarter but it is estimated that the state's portion will be approximately $3,900,000. This represents an increased exppenditure of 29 per cent over the outgo for the July 1-September 30, 1937, quarter.

A corresponding increase is shown in case load for the October-December quarter compared with the previous quarter, reports Controller Riley. Number of aged to receive aid during the October-December quarter is estimated to be 94,528, compared with 84,720 for the prior quarter, an increase of 11.6 per cent. In addition to the increase in case load there is shown also an increase in the average monthly grant from $32.14 to $33.56. Total expenditures for aid to aged increased from $8,-168,111.46 to $9,516,232.91 for the respective quarters.

Similar increases, stated Mr. Riley, are shown in aid to needy children, the case load increasing from 27,635 in July-September quarter to 30,197 in October-December, an increase of 9.3 per cent. The average monthly grant rose from $14,98 to $15.11. Total expenditures for aid to needy children increased from $1,241,883.-81 to $1,375,939.36 an expenditure increase of 10.3 per cent.

Minor increases in case load for aid to blind jumped from 4,971 to 5,089, with a large increase taking place in the amount of the average monthly grant. This was jumped from $38.24 in July-September quarter to $47.45 in October-December. Total expenditures for this aid were estimated to be $724,419.66, as compared to $570,256.71 for previous quarter, or a percentage increase of approximately 27 per cent.

These figures, declared Controller Riley are based on the counties estimates of case load and average monthly payments to recipients. Adjustments between the actual and the estimated are made in subsequent quarters.

These figures do no include any payments made from the state's general fund for reimbursement to the counties for benevolent aids advanced prior to July 1, 1937. Controller Riley estimates the unpaid state's share of this aid was around $8,000,-000 on July 1, 1937. Approximately $5,000,000 of this unpaid state's portion under the old procedure of payment was taken care of during the period JulyNovember, 1937.

Capital Business

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 6. — Before the new year is over, hundreds and perhaps thousands of men will be at work on the Central Valley Water Project, backers predicted this week. When finished, the project will enrich both Sacramento and San Joaquin Valleys, an area of more than 500 miles long and 50 miles wide.

The Southern Pacific company has started work on the re-routing of 37 miles of its tracks, which would be under water upon completion of the dam. The new line will include 12 tunnels and 8 bridges, one of the bridges to be more than 3,000 feet long and will be approximately 470 feet above the Pit river canyon.

The Shasta dam, key unit in the project, will tower more than 560 feet, to become the second largest concrete dam in the world. The first 4-mile section of the Contra Costa Canal, started several months ago, will be completed early this year.

It is reported by Walker Young, engineer in charge, that Friant camp near Fresno, site for the Friant dam, virtually is completed. The installation of a water and electrical system will furnish the construction of the camp, which will house and office government employes at the project. Bids will be opened in Sacramento February 1 for street and sidewalk grading and surfacing and sewer and water system at Kennett.

The state finance department announced this week that there is to be a new state office building constructed on the northeast corner of 10th and P streets. It is believed that a new building in this location will relieve the present crowded condition in the old motor vehicle building at 11th and P streets, now occupied by the unemployment reserve commission, the employment department and the state personnel board.

The state planning commission this week affirmed its belief that $15,000,000 in Federal funds should be made available for the building of a deep water canal from Suisun Bay to Sacramento, forwarding its recommendation to the national commission. The ship canal would provide a thirty foot channel and make it possible for ocean-going vessels to come directly to Sacramento, eliminating the necessity of transshipping from ocean to river boats. After reviewing requests submitted from various states, the national commission will submit a report to President Roosevelt for recommendation.

PAHATSI WINTER CAMP CLOSES

Winter camp, the five day snow outing held annually between Christmas and New Years, closed last Thursday after a turkey dinner attended by 75 scouts and leaders from Tahoe and Marin Councils. Perfect weather and good snow gave long hours for enjoyable skiing. Christies, telemarks and all the frills were learned from instructors Dr. Frank Howard of San Rafael and Nels Mikkelstad of the University of California.

Space was cleared on lake Kilborn and five pairs of ice skates found plenty of use. Four hundred feet of colored motoin picture film were taken of the camp activities.

In addition to instruction in skiing technic a series of friendly contests were held which developed keen competition. The winners in the cross country event were John Kooher, M. Ellestad and Jim Ricksecker. In the down mountain event the winners were J. Ricksecker, Ken Reynolds and M. Ellestad. For the jumping the winners were J. Ricksecker, John Kooher and Ken Reynolds.

This was the largest winter camp group since scout snow ski camps were inaugurated by Scout Executive H. Ricksecker in December 1926 for the scouts of Tahie Area Council. Bountiful meals were prepared by cook Fred Stephen and his assistants Bill Cluff and Bill Brooks. Ken Reynolds was in charge of the camp skis. Other leaders in addition to those mentioned were Scout Executive R. H. Worsley and R. B. Jacka of Marin county and Joe Stephenson of Nevada City.

RUSSIANS PLANT APPLE TREES IN CALIF. IN 1820

BERKELEY, Jan. 6.—The apple appears to have played an outstanding part in both the history and the horticulture of California, according to a review of the apple industry just made public by H. M. Butterfield, specialist in agricultural extension in the University of California. History shows that one of the first things the Russians did after arriving at Bodega was to plant apple trees and that may justly be said to have been the start of the industry in Sonoma county. These trees were supposed to have been planted in 1820, and traces of this old orchard still remain.

History also shows that Captain Joseph Aram, one of General Fremont's chief aides made a quick trip from Sacramento to San Jose in 1846 with his company of troops, to disperse a band of marauding Mexicans who were threatening the town, and remained to start a nursery in which the apple prominently figured. Captain Aram was one of those to write the first state constitution at Monterey, and he represented San Jose in the first legislature.

The number of apple trees increased rapidly in California's first ten years of statehood, but since that time the increase has been relatively slow. In 1910 there were 2,482,762 bearing apple trees, while in 1930 the number had increased to 2,870,-417. The number of nonbearing trees has barely maintained an even production in recent years. The crop has varied between 5,000,000 and 10,-000,000 bushels in recent years, but since 1930 has been under the latter figure.

Ever since a certain Chinaman was given to understand that he could not pack dried apples with his bare feet, the industry has made marked strides in both efficient growing and packing practices. At present it is experimenting with a new spray, phenothiazine, whereby it hopes to get rid of its awkward and costly spray residue problem.

COMMONWEALTH CLUB URGES AIR LINE REFORMS

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6—Following an eight months study by the Aviation Section of the Commonwealth Club of California, which culminated in the mailing of the Section's report "Why Air Wrecks?" to all club members, the Commonwealth club today announced the club's adoption by written ballot of recommendations proposed by the Aviation Section.

Every finding and recommendation was carried by a vote of more than three to one.

Pilot error, over-dependence on "blind" flying, failure or inadequacy of ground personnel or facilities were listed among primary causes of air crashes.

De-icing leading edges on wings and control surfaces where icing conditions may be encountered, "slinger ring" de-icing devices, and sealed recording barographs were recommended as mandatory requirements.

An artificial oxygen supply for pilots at heights above 10,000 feet was urged, and it was recommended that in forthcoming sub-stratosphere planes the oxygen supply and air pressure be equivalent to that of an altitude not greater than 5,000 feet. Carbon monoxide flight tests were favored as mandatory requirements on new or reconditioned planes.

Study of aviator neuroses, and efforts to provide an adequate preflight test of pilots were recommended, and the club favored retirement or employment in dispatching, radio, or other ground functions—of pilots having partial physical disability waivers.

Adequate meteorological training, salaries, and tests to assure competent personnel in ground positions responsible for flight dispatching or guidance were urged, and "past flying experience" favored for this work.

The club recommended establishment of additional emergency landing fields and that existing ones be kept up to date. It also recommended the air industry for success in perfection of planes and engines and generally increasing passenger safety.

"Tell your boss I've come to see him," growled the tall, broad-shouldered man to the slim, little office boy. "My name is Daniels."

The boy looked at the visitor with awe. "So you're Mr. Daniels," he said. "How very awkward."

Daniels — "What do you mean—awkward?"

Office Boy — "I've got orders to throw you out."

The Weekly Constitutional

by MAX BERNS

Supremacy of the Constitution

What is "the supreme law of the land" and how is it construed?

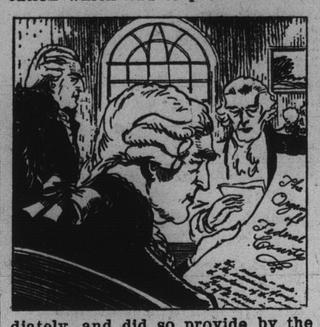
Article VI provides that "this Constitution and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof . . . shall be the supreme law of the land. . . ."

Article III provides that "the judicial power of the United States shall be vested in one Supreme Court and in such inferior courts as the Congress may from time to time ordain and establish," and further that "the judicial power shall extend to all cases in law and equity arising under this Constitution, the laws of the United States and treaties made. . . ."

In exercising this judicial power the Supreme Court necessarily must sustain the Constitution as "the supreme law" and accordingly must find any legislation that conflicts with it unconstitutional. No other interpretation is possible.

That this was the intention of the framers is shown by outstanding members of the Constitutional Convention who declared for judicial control, and by statements of advocates of the Constitution while its ratification was being considered by the people.

This power and duty of the Supreme Court also was made plain by the first Congress under the Constitution which had to provide immediately, and did so provide by the Judiciary Act of 1789, for the organization of Federal courts and appellate jurisdiction of the Supreme Court.



Instead of it being a judicial usurpation for the Supreme Court to exercise this power it would be an abdication of power and a neglect of duty for the Court to fail to do so.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

By MARY MARTZ

STUDENTS PUT OUT FIRE

Tuesday afternoon during his class of U. S. History, John Muscardini, looking through the window of the high school discovered a roof fire on a house in the rear of Cain's Auto Court. He immediately reported it to the principal and a group of high school students had the fire almost extinguished before the local fire truck could reach the scene.

FOUR NEW STUDENTS

Four new students have enrolled in the Nevada City high school since the Christmas vacation. Madeline Bettles of this city who attended Mt. t. Mary's academy last semester has taken up her studies here. Donald McClellan recently of Newman, California, Kent Mellot of Sebastopol, California, and Betty Burton of Fairplay, Colorado are the other new students.

NEW BOOKS

The high school library has received some new books of fiction. They are "Madame Curie" by her daughter Eve Curie, "The Life and Death of a Spanish Town" by Elliott Paul, "Jean and Company Unlimited" by Ellen Perry Curtis, and "Northwest Passage" by Kenneth Roberts. These are all excellent books from the literary point of view and of current interest.

BASKET BALL

The Nevada City high school basket ball team is scheduled to play Roseville high school on Friday night at Roseville. Much enthusiasm has been created for this game and many of the Nevada City students plan to attend. Since the Nevada city team won from Grass Valley every one believes that they have a good chance against Roseville. Probable members of the teams will be: A team—Cliff Hoff, Melvin Clark, Hershal Lotz, Karl Kopp and Eddie Doolittle. B team—Hobart Childers, Eleton Tobiassen, Elsworth Pingree, Robert Hurnal and Dick Pease. Mr. Barron coaches the A team and Mr. Leslie teacher from the eighth grade at grammar school has charge of the B team.

HOME MAKING CLASS

The Home Making department under Miss McKnight has received part of their new equipment. It consists mostly of cupboards, work-tables and sinks combined. New stoves and equipment are expected to come so that by next semester the cooking classes can really do some good cooking under more convenient conditions.

CAUSE OF MISSING

When the motor misses on a hard pull or seems to hesitate when accelerated suddenly the coil and condenser should be inspected for defects, according to the Emergency Road Service of the California State Automobile Association.

FLOOD OF NEW POSTAGE STAMPS DUE IN 1938

With Territorial Stamps all safely on the way, there is very little left for the collector of United States stamps to do except to await their arrival and worry about what the next issue may be. This "worrying period" seems to have taken the philatelic writers in Washington by storm. They all claim to have advance information and they all may be right, but if they are the stamp collectors will see a veritable flood of new postage stamps in 1938.

Now if they are right, here is what we may expect to see: First we have a complete revision of the current postage stamps, a total of 39 stamps. There is also proposed at least one new value, a 4½ cent stamp, so the total may reach a grand total of 40 new stamps. This is the set that is supposed to honor those 12 presidents who have not as yet been pictured on our postage stamps, and of course if printed will be eagerly sought for.

Next we hear that another stamp will be printed to honor the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the Constitution, as well as one more in honor of the Northwest Territory. Then the State of Delaware will also be honored with a State stamp, and then there is the series of commemorative stamps which will honor the great American authors, inventors, educators and scientists. Just how many stamps will be in this set no one as yet just seems to know, but it should be an outstanding number. Then of course there still remains in the background the long proposed set to honor the American Indian. Just one set for each tribe would make a very nice collection. But thank goodness these are only rumors. The Philatelic pot must be kept boiling and there is nothing quite so good for fuel as the news of the issuance of another postage stamp. However, there is undoubtedly some truth about these proposed stamps, so the stamp collectors look forward to a very busy 1938.

Colorful Fun Zone for San Francisco Fair

An artist's impression of a portion of the Amusement Zone now being built for the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition, on Treasure Island in San Francisco Bay. Exposition heads are stumped for a name for the Zone and offer $1,000 cash for the right suggestion.

"EBB TIDE" FILMED IN TECHNICOLOR

The most successful color film that has yet reached the screen is the Technicolor sea story, "Ebb Tide," which opens at the Nevada Theatre Sunday. There has been no setting so far which shows itself so perfectly adapted to Technicolor photography as the South Seas locale of this story by Robert Louis Stevenson and Lloyd Osbourne. The lush tropical vegetation, the bright blue of Pacific skies and the water shading of the South Pacific all needed to be filmed in color, and in "Ebb Tide" all their beauty is recorded to the best possible advantage. The result is a film of unique beauty.

The cast of "Ebb Tide" is headed by Oscar Homolka, Frances Farmer, Ray Milland, Lloyd Nolan and Barry Fitzgerald.

"Ebb Tide" tells the story of four strangely assorted lives that are entangled on a little South Sea island as a result of a death outside the group, and are separated at last by violence and murder in a forsaken trading post run by a sadistic madman.

Homolka, broken sea captain, Milland, an expatriate Englishman, and Fitzgerald, a conniving Cockney, all go aboard the schooner "Golden State" when her captain dies at sea. Frances Farmer is the daughter of the dead captain, who is aboard the ship when Homolka decides to steal the boat and cargo. Milland protests, but is over-ruled by his companions. The ship is almost lost in a storm before the quartet lands at a little island where Lloyd Nolan holds sway. Nolan attempts to keep Miss Farmer on the island, and kills Homolka and Fitzgerald when they attempt to rob him. Milland overpowers the maniac, and puts to sea again with Miss Farmer planning to start a new life for the two of them.

Oscar Homolka, whose first fame in this country came from his appearance in two English made pictures, "Rhodes" and "A Woman Alone," makes his American debut in "Ebb Tide" under the auspicous circumstances, for the film proves to be an example of Stevenson's best sea yarns, as well as being pictorially beautiful.

The film was directed by James Hogan.

MOTOR NOISE

A clanking or slapping noise in the motor when it is operating under a heavy pull, such as climbing a grade, may indicate a loose piston, according to the Emergency Road Service of the California State Automobile Association.

CIVIC CO-OPERATION

During the past few days, over the signature of the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce, there appeared in both the Grass Valley Union and the Nevada City Nugget, Greetings to All, both in the city and county of Nevada. The message was one of good cheer, intending to carry also, the thought that, the very beginning of 1938 was an appropriate time for All to seriously consider the importance of a Pull Together program on all matters pertaining to civic welfare in every community and city of the county.

Many inquiries are constantly coming to our organization from both far and near, pertaining to many subjects; some may prove somewhat speculative, while many are offered in the best of faith. It is the policy of our body to promptly and courteously reply to all.

These varied inquiries naturally remind your officers that even at home, many questions are asked concerning the routine of the Chamber's activities, in fact, from both individuals and groups of individuals; suggestions are offered in behalf of certain interests, but not often are they brought to the special or regular meetings.

Every one in any city or community, is interested in affairs pertaining to his or her locality.

The purpose of a Chamber of Commerce is to act as a clearing headquarters for the interests of all.

Our officers and directors are eager to have any and all constructive propositions, such as should be entertained by them, presented, and they will, at all times, give such questions full and cooperative discussion.

Let's get together, everybody, and improve this program.

Our next meeting will be held Monday evening, January 10, 8 o'clock.

Let's give 1938 a Civic Reception. Come, your presence will be needed and most certainly appreciated.

Yours for Progress and Mutual Welfare.

NEVADA CITY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.
FRED CONNER, President.

CENSUS OF DEER WILL BE TAKEN

Leland S. Smith, head of the grazing department of the Tahoe National Forest, stated this week that as soon as the CCC boys get established work will start taking deer census again .There have been several changes in the camps and the boys are now established in the Grass Valley camp. He expects to get his crew together this month.

A survey is made of the whole territory in the national forest and some idea is formed of deer runs, feeding districts for different sections, and effects snow and rain storms have on the animals. It is known the deer for the most part range from higher elevations to lower in winter time, but it has also been found that the animals will remain in places where they have been trapped by deep snow and feed must be taken to them. An estimate is made on the number of lions, wild cats, coyotes, wolves and any other animals in the territory. A study is made of feeding grounds and animals are found to stay in certain sections for several seasons and again they change with the weather and other conditions.

CYLINDER DAMAGE

When a motor has been idle for several weeks it is advisable to remove the spark plugs and pour about a tablespoon of light lubricating oil into each cylinder, according to the Emergency Road Service of the California Automobile Association. This will lubricate the cylinder walls immediately and guard against scratching or scoring of dry metallic surfaces before oil is forced to all moving parts by the oil pump.
